

Comprehensive Training for Commercial Driver License with Sample Questions and Answers

A commercial driver's license (CDL) is required to operate any commercial motor vehicle (CMV) in the United States. CMVs are defined as vehicles with a gross vehicle weight rating (GVWR) of 26,001 pounds or more, or vehicles designed to transport 16 or more passengers (including the driver).

There are three classes of CDLs: Class A, Class B, and Class C. Class A CDLs are required to operate the heaviest and largest CMVs, such as tractor-trailers and buses. Class B CDLs are required to operate single-unit CMVs, such as straight trucks and dump trucks. Class C CDLs are required to operate smaller CMVs, such as box trucks and passenger vans.
