Tips for Playing

* Start with a good plan. Before you start playing, take some time to think about what kind of golf course you want to build. What kind of customers do you want to attract? You need to be prepared to adapt to new trends and customer demands. If you're not willing to change, you'll quickly fall behind your competitors. * Be competitive. There are a lot of other golf courses out there, so you need to be competitive to attract customers.
