Collocations are words that are often used together in English. For example, we say "make a cup of tea" instead of "make a tea cup." Collocations can be difficult to learn, but they are essential for speaking and writing English fluently.

This box is designed to help you learn 2000 English collocations in just 20 minutes a day. Each day, you will learn 10 new collocations. You will also review the collocations you have learned in previous days.

To use the box, simply follow these steps:

1. Open the box and take out the first card.

2. Read the collocation on the card and try to remember it.
3. Turn the card over and read the definition of the collocation.
4. Say the collocation out loud several times.
5. Put the card back in the box.

Repeat these steps for the remaining cards in the box. Once you have gone through all of the cards, review the collocations you have learned by taking a quiz.

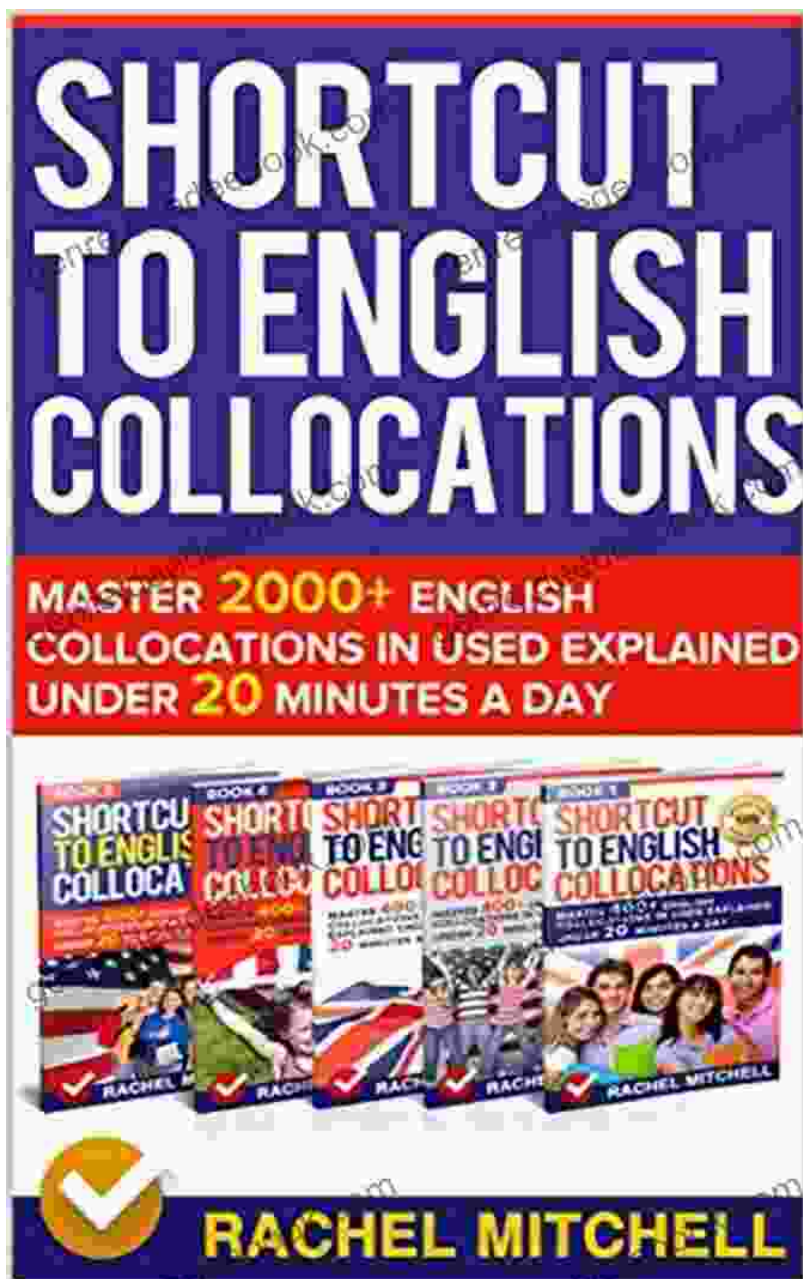

This box is an effective and efficient way to learn English collocations. With just 20 minutes of practice each day, you can master 2000 collocations in no time.

Benefits of using this box:

- Learn 2000 English collocations in just 20 minutes a day.
- Improve your speaking and writing fluency.
- Gain a better understanding of English grammar.
- Expand your English vocabulary.
- Prepare for English exams.
